

A Collaborative Approach to Improved Service Delivery to Seniors and Caregivers

A seminar for professionals working with senior clients and their family caregivers

With Dr. Amy D'Aprix

January 12, 2009

Breakfast will be served at 8:45 am, program 9 -11:15am

Topics will include:

- Collaborative approach to service delivery
- Communicating with senior clients
- Dealing with difficult clients and families

Dr. D'Aprix has an extensive background working with seniors and their caregiving families. She is an author, professional speaker, life transition consultant and teacher. She lectures extensively throughout North America for both corporate and social services agencies. Dr. D'Aprix's book, From Surviving to Thriving: Transforming Your Caregiving Journey was published earlier this year

The program will begin with a short presentation from The Cyril & Dorothy, Joel & Jill Reitman Centre for Alzheimer's Support and Training at Mt. Sinai Hospital. This program provides caregiver support via interactive training, group CBT, individual solution-focused therapy (SFT), individual supportive therapy and follow-up telephone support.
